School administrators propose bond issue for-

New elementary school, numerous renovations

By BRENT MACEY
J.D. McCullough, superintendent of the Bay Municipal Separate School District, presented a recommendation for the construction of a new elementary school, a fine arts building at Bay Senior High and renovation of other schools in the separate school district to the school board at their meeting Monday night.

A bond issue to be presented to Bay St. Louis Municipal School District voters, "at the earliest possible date" is recommended to fund the project.

The proposal further recommends the school district continue to house all students at their present location for the 1981-82 school year, including third graders now attending classes at the Senior High.

McCullough said Tuesday the proposals are recommendations from him and the system's administrators.

Last year the school board requested McCullough to submit a recommendation on that controversial issue by February or March of 1981.

The recommendation is signed by McCullough, Donald Caldwell, assistant superintendent; Robert Magee and Frank Ladner, principal and assistant principal of Bay Senior High; W.J. Cameron and Michael Cave, principal and assistant principal of Bay Jr. High; Roger James, North Bay Elementary School principal; and James Baldree, Waveland Elementary School principal.

The board tabled the recommendation until April when additional recommendations from the Needs Assessment Committee will be studied.

McCullough said the board will also consider recommendations from "other organizations" at that time including the Parent Teacher's Organization and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

McCullough could not give a price estimate on the construction costs.

He said the board will employ an architect who will start preliminary drawings and determine a price estimate if they decide to follow that plan.

Location of the proposed new 12 classroom elementary school is north of US-90 within Waveland city limits.

That facility will house a cafeteria, library, a principal's and counselor's office, a nurse's station, storage, restrooms, paved parking and "other facilities as deemed necessary or appropriate to comply with local, state and federal regulations."

Offshore oil rigs may return to local waters

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
For the first time in over 20 years oil rigs soon again may be seen in Bay St. Louis and the Mississippi Sound off Hancock and west Harrison County's shoreline.

Lease Division of the State Department of Natural Resources, Wednesday morning in Jackson said John W. Rettig, a Lafayette, La. attorney and oil lease broker recently proposed leasing several blocks of submerged state-owned lands offshore from Pass Christian and extending to East Pearl River.

The proposed 65,000-acre area also includes Bay St. Louis and lower estuarine areas of its rivers and bayous.

In an article in the "The Sun" newspaper last week, Dr. Richard Leard, director of the Bureau of Marine Resources in Long Beach, said the recent offshore lease request was the first for the Gulf Coast.

However, Jack Meyers, geologist with the State Oil and Gas Board, said in Jackson Wednesday morning, "In the late 1950's about three wells were drilled offshore in and around Bay St. Louis and one was drilled near Horn Island."

"These wells only drilled 8,000 to 9,000 feet which is a Washita-Fredericksburg strata. No oil or gas was found," Meyers explained.

He speculated future drilling would be aimed at deeper Mooringport formations which have proved abundant in natural gas in the nearby inland Waveland Field, and the Tuscaloosa Trend which runs through Texas and Louisiana. Geologists speculate the trend might extend eastward into the Mississippi Sound to include the area around Cat Island.

Meyers noted that years ago a Bay St. Louis well was drilled close to shore just a few feet from a private pier, but he could not recall the exact location.

Nereids Bal depicts gala Mexican Fiesta

Guests at the Krewe of Nereids 15th annual Bal Masque were treated to a Mexican Fiesta Saturday night, at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Amid the pageantry of the event entitled 'Fiesta! Fiesta!' and ancient native dances the captain, symbolizing an Aztec Goddess, appeared from a large pyramid.

Queen Doris XV, personifying the Queen of the Fiesta Des Flores, reigned over the affair gowned in pale yellow velvet, heavily encrusted with rhinestones and fashioned over a hoop skirt.

Her train was of orange-red velvet accented with yellow velvet, rhinestones and sequins.

Her mantle was made of rhinestones, and her headpiece was made of rhinestones and yellow plumes.

Maids to her majesty each portrayed a treasure of Mexico.

centered with rhinestones and silver sequins.

She was escorted by Robert J. Parker.

Dukes escorting the maids were costumed in black pants, black bolero jackets trimmed with silver and black sombreros accented with silver sequins.

His Majesty, King Nereus XV, Donald W. Diboll, was wearing white tails and a cape of orange-red velvet accented with yellow velvet and encrusted with rhinestones and sequins. His crown was intricately studded with rhinestones.

Trainbearers to Her Majesty were Miss Heidi Gerette Hitt, Miss Karen Emille Breath, Miss Jennifer Hope Tartavouille, and Master Raymond Earl Kidd, III.

The maid representing Monterrey's castanet music was gowned in red satin trimmed with black lace and accented with black sequins.

She was escorted by Basil T. Kennedy.

The maid representing Veracruz's beautifully colored Quetzal bird was gowned in pale green satin accented with exotic quetzal feathers.

She was escorted by Dr. Andrew K. Martinolich.

The maid representing the town of Tehuantepec's colorful holidays was gowned in blue satin trimmed with white lace and accented with colorful flowers and sequins.

She was escorted by Ronald J. Artigues.

The maid representing the city of Puebla's famed pottery was gowned in rust satin accented with sequins of rust and emerald green.

She was escorted by Sheldon M. Seuzeneau.

The maid representing Guadalajara's fragrant fields of flowers was gowned in magenta satin accented with satin flowers and colorful sequins.

She was escorted by Clyde L. Ladner.

February rains near 12 inches

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County has had almost one foot of rainfall in February alone.

The heavy rainfall this week ended almost a two-month drought which prompted hundreds of woods fires and numerous structural blazes locally.

Hancock and Harrison Counties were under a tornado watch from 4 a.m. to 10 a.m. Tuesday and a flash flood watch all day Tuesday.

Although no tornados were reported in Hancock or west Harrison Counties during Monday and Tuesday's inclement weather, some flooding was reported north of the Sellers Community.

Dispatcher Wanda Stenklipf of the Mississippi Forestry Commission's Rocky Hill Firetower reported Wednesday afternoon that Monday and Tuesday's deluge registered 7.03 inches on their rain gauge.

"Friday we recorded 2.57 inches and we recorded 1.89 inches after a period beginning at 1 p.m. Feb. 1 to 1 p.m. Feb. 2," she stated.

Rocky Hill's total rainfall for these first 12 days of February is 11.49 inches.

Stenklipf said in all of January the tower only recorded .90 inches of rain.

Although tornados and high winds raked the central and eastern Mississippi Gulf Coast along with Monday and Tuesday's rain the dispatcher said no twisters were reported in Hancock County.

"The bad lightning we had knocked out a few electrical transformers, but even with the heavy rain and strong winds very few trees were knocked down," Stenklipf noted.

A Hancock County Civil Defense spokesman Wednesday said one house north of the Sellers Community was reported flooded by the Wolf River.

Local rivers, bayous and creeks throughout the area have been slightly out of their banks due to the rain.

The spokesman confirmed that no tornado's were cited, but said winds apparently knocked a tree across US-90 west of Waveland.

All city and county public schools in the area and Christ Episcopal School in Bay St. Louis were closed Tuesday.

Jourdan residents claim boats increasing erosion

By BRENT MACEY
The Jourdan River is peaceful now. No speed boats with water skiers and reveling vacationers interrupt the quiet flow of the river.

A lone fisherman may go unnoticed, tucked in one of the many curves through which the river flows on its way to the Bay of St. Louis.

But the banks themselves tell a different tale, and the people who live on those banks verify that story.

The story is erosion.

And property owners along the river feel that erosion in recent years has been intensified enormously, by the wave action resulting from motor boat activity on the river during the warmer months.

The casual observer could not easily recognize the dramatic changes taking place along the river's banks.

But to Hazel Selph, a woman who has lived beside the river for 40 years, the changes are very noticeable and to her they matter.

Two strong oaks stand side by side on the bank of her property a few feet from the river.

"We used to mow the grass between those trees and the river," Selph said. "You can see you can't mow there any more. We had to stop. The bank receded too far."

Selph points to a small stone bench.

"We used to sit and fly fish here she said. We used to catch fish all day. You can't do it anymore. I don't know why."

All rivers erode the bank. It is a natural process. But people along the river think that the problem has gotten worse in the last 10 years.

"It's the boats," Selph said. They come up and down here sometimes two abreast."

Selph said the waves from those summer boaters lap the bank constantly as one boat goes up the river and another follows behind.

"It's taking a toll on my land," Selph said.

She is certain the waves are making the erosion problem worse. She is not sure about the fish.

Victor Frankiewicz, assistant to Dr. Richard Leard, director of the State Bureau of Marine Resources in Gulfport, said "it stands to reason" boat waves would cause additional erosion on the river.

He stated he knows of no study undertaken by the Bureau on the Jourdan River to verify the claim that erosion is getting worse.

Frankiewicz said that marsh grass along the bank is a "natural inhibitor" of erosion.

"It grips the bank and holds the soil."

"Constant wave action at low tide will wash the undersoil supporting the marsh grass," Frankiewicz said.

"Loss of that undersoil would destroy the marsh grass and increase erosion."

Other people along the river attest to increased erosion.

Mrs. Robert Johnson who lives east of Selph said, "I am no oceanographer but I think the boats definitely have an effect on erosion."

She stated she loves boats and waterskiing and had no objection to summer boaters.

She said her property along the river is bordered with a "wall of branches" cut from around her property. "It has stopped the erosion along our property," she said. "I do not feel we have a problem now," although she Leon Bramlett of Clarksdale will be guest speaker.

He is a graduate of University of Mississippi and University of Alabama.

Bramlett graduated from Annapolis in 1947 where he was an All-American football player and captain of the Annapolis team.

He became active in Mississippi Republican politics in 1976 and ran for governor in 1979. He was also a member of the Reagan Steering Committee.

An elder in the Presbyterian church, Bramlett is married to the former Virginia McGehee of Greenville. They have three children.

Program offered to local farmers

Farmers may apply for agricultural conservation program practices at their local office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The sign-up period will be conducted through Feb. 13.

"We encourage farmers to sign up as soon as possible because their practices must be approved by the county committee before the work can begin," Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS office, said recently.

"Farmers who start practices prior to approval are ineligible for cost-shares," he added. The agency encourages farmers to correct soil and water conservation problems, and, where needed, assists them with cost-share payments.

"Program participants will receive federal financial assistance for up to 75-percent of the cost to help them meet the most critical conservation needs," Gennin noted.

The executive director said, "Program funds are available for practices which are conservation-oriented, and will provide enduring solutions to the problems of farmland being a source of agricultural pollution or land affected by wind or water erosion."

Erosion claimed 30 feet of land last year at this spot in McLeod Park

problem does exist in other places." Mrs. Nelwyn Ducomb, a property owner near Selph, said, "There is no question that the increased popularity of the speed boat has increased erosion on our property."

Ducomb said places have eroded 10 to 15 feet in the past three years.

"We have lived here for 30 years but there has been a tremendous difference in last three years."

She said a whole grove of magnolias on her property has gone into the river. Pickerelweed, water lilies, reeds, grasses and other water plants used to grow on a shelf three feet underwater next to the river bank, she said.

The shelf itself has eroded and the plants are now gone, she continued.

List of plants including cardinal flowers, palmetto, azaleas, iris and clematis flowers, olive trees, flowering shrub which once covered the bank have all gone, Ducomb said.

She said the water plants were first to go followed by bank vegetation, including 'whole trees.'

"What's worse is trees fall into the water and present a real hazard to the waterskiers," she added.

Ducomb claims the fishing has gotten worse in the last few years and that there is a lack of wild life in the area.

"We used to have beaver, nutria and otters. They are all gone," she said.

"Wild ducks and ducklings used to swim by. The whole area has really changed."

She said boats in the summer run 'constantly... non-stop' with 'waves sometimes two feet high.'

She recommended the area above the bridge on Hwy. 603 be classified as a 'no wake zone' and the river below the bridge reserved for waterskiing and speed boats.

"The river is really too narrow above the bridge for water skiing," Ducomb said.

She said the lower area was wider and also contained more marsh vegetation to protect the banks.

Adult classes available to local residents

Hancock County Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills said recently the county will continue to offer Adult Basic Education Classes.

"The classes are for adults 16 years of age and older who have not completed high school. Through ABE, they have an opportunity to earn a diploma by attending classes and completing a General Educational Development Test," the superintendent explained.

Sills said the county also has special classes for adults who have serious difficulty in reading.

"The classes are free of charge," he noted.

For more information, call the county superintendent's office at 467-446, or J. D. Penton, director at 533-7872.

Hattiesburg antique show begins Friday

American Business Women's Association Hattiesburg Chapter will sponsor their 7th annual Antique Show and Sale, Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the National Guard Armory in Hattiesburg, at the junction of Hwy. 42 and 49 North.

Doors will open at 11 a.m. and close at 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday. Sunday the hours are from 12:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m.

"Tickets may be purchased in advance from association members or at the door for $1.50 each. Each ticket is good for all three days of the show," a group spokesman says.

Lavada Burleson, show chairman, reports there will be approximately 18 antique dealers from five southern states exhibiting antiques. All exhibited merchandise will be for sale.

"Proceeds from the sale of tickets and food will be donated for local scholarships. Scholarships were awarded in 1980 totaling $2,500, to women presently attending the University of Southern Mississippi and William Carey College. One recipient sponsored by the Hattiesburg Chapter of ABWA has received her degree," the spokesman explains.

"Anyone interested in receiving more information may contact the Scholarship Chairman, Mary Humphries at 544-6700 or 583-9809. Deadline for filing an application for this year is March, 1981. Inquiries may be addressed to P.O. Box 1793, Hattiesburg, Miss 39401, the spokesman says.

Better safe than sorry

The decisions by Superintendents J.D. McCullough of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School System and Billy Sills of the Hancock County School System Tuesday to cancel classes because students left their homes were wise moves on the part of those officials.

Severe weather had already moved into the area by 6:30 a.m. that morning and cancellation of classes eliminated the dangers which would have been inevitable for school buses attempting to maneuver flooding city streets, county roads and highways.

That threat to the life and limb of area student and teacher populations may have been minimal compared to the very real danger of a tornado Tuesday morning.

Tornados seem to have a penchant for school buildings in this area.

Within recent memory we can cite destruction at Pass Christian Elementary, Gulfview Elementary, and then Tuesday at Bay Minette near the Alabama coast.

Miraculously the Mississippi schools were unoccupied when struck, but some 62 people were injured in the Alabama school Tuesday.

It makes good sense to keep the children at home and scattered over a wide area if that's where they already are when a tornado threatens, rather than concentrated in the school buildings.

But the warnings won't always come early enough as they did Tuesday morning. Training through tornado drills is essential to protect the faculties and student bodies when that kind of weather danger arises after school has already taken in on a given day.

A statewide tornado drill March 5 will highlight Tornado Awareness Week proclaimed March 2 through 6 by Governor William Winter.

Probably no area in the United States is more conscious of the awesomeness of nature's weather giants, the hurricane and the tornado, than we are here on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

We feel it is essential to continue this healthy respect for the power of nature—both officially as demonstrated by the school administrators Tuesday, and in the private sector through acceptance of educational efforts such as Tornado Awareness Week.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics.

One of my regular customers recently got upset when a line of suits from which she made a selection the week before went on sale. I didn't really promote the sale for fear it would hurt my regular business, and this unhappy reaction from a good customer seems to reinforce my attempt to have "quiet" sales. I still don't know what to do.

Dear ISDKWTD: Sales are an economic fact of life. They are vital to the retailing business, and to what we call modern merchandising.

Sales of various kinds are so much a part of retailing that a unique vocabulary to denote the various offerings has evolved. And the U.S. Department of Labor has issued a calendar of traditional sales by months to aid consumers trying to stretch their dollars.

So let's just accept the fact of end-of-the-season and other slow-moving merchandise clearances.

But, your problem, as you describe it, was not the sale. You were trying to have it without anyone knowing about it, and you got caught.

This and other similar embarrassments can be avoided by observing one simple principle—be open about what you are doing.

Have your sales on a regular calendar basis, and advertise them extensively. Regular customers will know when to expect them and you won't run the risk of offending anyone in the manner you describe.

Secondly, you might announce, well in advance of a sale, the date it will begin. Stores that do this report getting a lot of traffic as prospects come in to look over the merchandise prior to the sale. It also produces some immediate sales to prospects unwilling to chance the items they need still being available when the sale begins.

Instruct your sales people to tell customers that items they may be considering will go on sale soon, or whenever. Most have found the result of this practice almost always positive—the sale is often made anyway, and if not the store has made a friend.

But, back to your situation. From any perspective the answer comes out the same.

Your customer felt that she had not been given a fair shake, directly attributable to your attempts to keep the clearance sale secret. You probably had more than one irate customer—but, the one who confronted you may have done you the biggest favor of your retailing career.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

FEB. 12, 1809—APRIL 15, 1865

"To become president, Lincoln had to talk more radically on occasion than he actually felt; to be an effective president, he was compelled to act more conservatively than he wanted."

—Richard Hofstadter in 'The Leadership of Abraham Lincoln'

Washington Report

By Congressman Trent Lott

5th District, Mississippi

Those of us who remember how the federal bureaucracy almost stopped construction of a much-needed interchange in Jackson County a few years ago can take heart.

Judging from my conversations with the new secretary of the Interior Department, cooperation instead of confrontation will be the byword in the Reagan administration.

That interchange, many of you will recall, involved approximately 40 sandhill cranes, a species listed as endangered. Several federal agencies, including the Interior Department and the Transportation Department, and a variety of state agencies were also involved.

After almost four years of haggling, it was finally determined that a sandhill crane refuge would be established to protect the birds — at a cost of more than $6 million — and that construction of the interchange could be completed. During these years, traffic fatalities continued on the congested artery the interchange was designed to relieve.

Enter now the new Secretary of the Interior, James G. Watt. We had the opportunity to talk the other day and I got the distinct impression Secretary Watt will not let the bureaucracy in his department become overbearing. I was pleased that his first official communication was to the governors of the 50 states pledging "full and complete recognition of the vital role of the states in the federal system."

The secretary pledged that the Interior Department would function as a "good neighbor" to the states. He said there would be open and candid communication so that the public interest would be best served.

The secretary also said he has taken other actions in his first few days in office, including the following:

—reaffirmed the President's freeze on hiring;

—ordered a freeze on all but the most essential travel by departmental officials;

—ordered a survey of all consulting contracts in force and in the process of completion.

All of these actions, I believe, point to an atmosphere of real cooperation in cutting the federal budget and in making the Interior Department responsive to the needs of the people. As critical decisions regarding the use and management of our public lands are made, it is an atmosphere I welcome.

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

JACKSON—As part of his ongoing program to develop Mississippi's economy, Governor William Winter met last week with a top official of one of the nation's leading oil companies.

Kenneth Derr, president and chief executive officer of Chevron, U.S.A., Inc., credited the leadership of Governor Winter and other state business officials with encouraging Chevron to invest $1 billion in its Pascagoula refinery. Work on the refinery expansion, which is the largest single investment ever made by Chevron, began in November following a visit Winter made to the company's corporate headquarters in California last August.

The construction project, at its peak, will employ over 3,500 people and is expected to be completed in less than two years. Derr said the refinery will be "the most flexible oil refinery in the entire world" with the capacity for refining low-quality crude.

Derr said a great deal of study and planning went into the decision to locate the refinery at Pascagoula. "I think I would be remiss if I did not point out the great help that we had from a lot of people from Mississippi, led by Governor Winter. He came to California to help with this project."

Derr said Chevron is becoming more active in the exploration side of oil production in Mississippi. "We have an exploratory wildcat underway right now in Natchez and we have been very active in leasing new land in Mississippi," he said.

Bits 'n pieces

We are glad to see the county purchase additional land for parking near the Courthouse.

There has been a need for parking, especially during court and tax paying time.

We have to commend our Board of Supervisors on their looking into the future with the property purchase.

To the delight of many high school coaches and supporters, the Mississippi High School Activities Association's decision to have a football playoff at the end of the regular season is a good move.

We know Hancock Head Coach Irvin Favre is delighted with the new rule.

Football decisions in two areas, the playoffs and formation of the new conference should aid the sport in coming years.

Just think! Spring practice is only a short time away.

We hope everyone is happy with the selection of the new city-county animal shelter site.

There is a need for this facility to be constructed immediately.

Too many hours of work have gone into the project for it to linger.

We hope the animal shelter will be completed in the very near future.

The recent adoption of the gold and silver ordinance by Waveland's governing bodies sounded like a good law.

It sounded very good until Mr. Delmar Wilcox brought up some very good objections.

It just goes to prove to us once again, something has to be reviewed from every angle before a final opinion can be rendered.

It will be interesting to see if further actions will be taken, possibly changing the ordinance.

We realize the Waveland officials are acting in the best interests of their citizens.

It was good news for Bay St. Louis receiving approval on their application of the $1,666,000 grant through its Community Action Block grant.

The majority of the money to be spent on gasoline renovation over a three year period is very important.

We have to commend Ronnie Murray, Gulf Regional Planning representative, on the preparation of the preapplication for the Bay mayor and council.

Several public hearings were held on possible requests by citizens and gasoline updating was a much discussed item.

From recent news reports, we must save as much fuel as possible.

We, the utility owners have to pay for the gas whether it is used or leaked out of the lines.

The over 10 percent waste in the city's gaslines is far too high and we hope the grant monies will cure this problem.

The renovation of some homes is something many elderly residents need. This part of the grant will also benefit Bay St. Louis.

MISSISSIPPI

CONSUMER REPORT

Office of Bill Allain, Attorney General

Attorney General Bill Allain announced today that during the month of January, 1981, the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office saved or recovered more than $4,000.00 dollars for Mississippi consumers.

Allain also noted that January was the second highest month of recovery in the history of the division.

Mississippians who think they may have been defrauded or treated unfairly in the marketplace should contact Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, Miss. 39205.

FALSE BILLING IS ILLEGAL!

Don't become a victim says Attorney General Bill Allain. Mississippi businesses are cheated out of thousands of dollars annually by swindlers who use the mails to send false bills for goods and services not received.

While there are many variations of this scheme, Allain points out that the majority of them fall into three categories:

—Solicitation of contributions for nonexistent minority causes or organizations.

—Solicitation of payments on previously mailed bills for nonexistent or useless business directories.

—Enforcement of payments for previously mailed invoices for office supplies or services that were never ordered by the company and never supplied.

What all these schemes have in common is that companies will receive a professionally printed invoice which appears to be a legitimate bill for goods and services normally purchased by the firm.

In setting up an operation, the promoter will rent space in a building, install a bank of telephones and contract with a mail receiving service to receive the actual payments from the false bills. The mail receiving agent is used to hide the actual location of the operation and is sometimes located several hundred miles away. At least weekly, the payments are picked up by a runner for the operation, or the mail receiving agent is instructed to send the payments to another mail drop address; a stratagem which serves to further disguise the location of the phony operation.

Initially, these con-artists telephone the unsuspecting businesses to sell advertising space, or goods and services. The telephone solicitor operates from a script and depending on the victim, uses soft or hard sell techniques, phony ethnic accents, and plays on sympathies, social concerns and threats to credit ratings of legitimate organizations.

The successfulness of these schemes results from a firm's desire to support worthwhile causes, and second, many firms failed to verify the existence of a bona fide obligation, especially if the amount was considered small. But the submission of a small amount from enough companies and organizations adds up to big money for these fraudulent operators.

Despite an increased awareness within the business community of the tactics employed by false billing promoters, a portion of these invoices continues to frustrate and defeat the accounting safeguards of victimized firms.

These schemes can be prevented if businesses are alert and follow a few simple rules:

—Don't pay until all invoices are verified against goods and services received.

—Don't pay for a listing in an unheeded directory.

Bay woman recommends energy subsidy revisions

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Bay St. Louis woman recently represented six Gulf Coast counties in a Washington, D.C. conference. Geraldine Lang, newly-elected president of Concerned Citizens of Hancock County, served as a delegate to a White House Conference on Aging and the Elderly sponsored by the National Community Action Program.

Lang served on a committee which offered several recommendations to the national organization regarding energy assistance programs for the poor and elderly.

Gulf Coast Community Action Agency is headquartered in Gulfport with one of its branch offices located in Bay St. Louis.

Doyle Moffett heads the Gulfport-based organization and is a member of the national group.

Lang said, "I represented Region I which is the Gulf Coast region." The Gulf Coast region encompasses Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River, Stone and George Counties.

The Bay St. Louis woman said she was one of four Mississippi regional representatives participating in the Capitol Hill conference which brought regional leaders from all 50 states and U.S. territories.

Lang said she was a member of a group of 20-25 representatives which primarily addressed energy problems facing the poor and elderly.

"Health, housing, transportation, nutrition and employment were studied by other committees, but our energy committee also studied these issues from our viewpoint," Lang noted.

"Our group introduced several resolutions to the conference and they were all adopted along with recommendations from other groups. These resolutions will be presented at another White House conference in November," she reported.

Lang said the resolutions call for reduction of energy costs in each state by having more regional input regarding distributing energy assistance funds statewide, better monitoring of government assistance agencies, establishing committees in each community to inspect residential insulation work, and distribution of winter heating subsidies evenly during the three coldest months.

Emphasizing the resolution regarding heating subsidies, Lang noted, "The way this money has been distributed in the past has created a hardship on many people."

"The distribution of these funds should begin on a monthly basis early in the season and continue through winter instead of the present system which distributes a lump sum of money near the end of this cold season," she explained.

"The work involved in this conference was extremely important because it will set policies and programs for older Americans for many years to come," Lang stated.

Lang is also a Retired Senior Volunteer Program member and serves on the Gulf Coast Community Action Agency Board of Directors.

Travis said minutes from department board meetings reveal the entire Mississippi Sound was leased for oil and gas exploration in the late 1950's and early 1960's.

Leard said there were no regulations for offshore leasing in Mississippi until the Wetlands Protection Act was adopted in 1973.

The BMR director noted that presently there are no guidelines or environmental considerations for offshore leasing.

"We have an informal agreement with the natural resources department to draft guidelines for leasing," he said.

Leard said Tuesday a draft of proposed lease guidelines has been sent to local governments, environmental organizations and oil and gas industries for comments.

"We will ask for comments to be returned by the end of March and submit all this information to the Department of Natural Resources," the BMR director reported.

"There is no legal requirement forcing the department to accept our recommendations. They are the enforcing agency and they supervise these matters, but we could assist with our personnel," Leard explained.

"What we've done is look at pollution abatement," he stated.

Regarding possible damage to oyster beds, Leard said, "That's one of the considerations in formulating these regulations."

"No structure should be built on established oyster reefs. Also, these rigs should not be erected in marinas, harbors or near fishing piers or bridges," he explained.

Even oil exploration work has apparently already brought problems to local oyster fishermen.

John Genin, a Bay St. Louis attorney, said Tuesday a client is considering filing suit against an oil exploration company which he claims damaged a seeded oyster bed near Bayou Cadet with seismicographic studies.

"Apparently the exploration company didn't realize people had leased submerged land to establish an oyster bed," Genin stated.

"My client is claiming compressed air popping of the seismic studies damaged the oyster beds. Now we're talking about some sort of settlement," the attorney reported.

In reference to possible offshore leases, Travis said he expects it will be at least six months before any leases are approved by his department's board of commissioners.

"We have issued several permits for seismic testing," he reported.

"I recently presented a lease request to the commissioners and they recommended we delay approval until we could get some sort of regulations," Travis noted.

The division chief said before leases were approved a legal notice requesting mineral bids for the offshore property would have to be placed in local newspapers.

Travis explained although the Lafayette broker has requested several 'blocks' in the sound, when bids are received he may only bid on one-half of a block or not bid at all.

He further explained that such actions are common in oil leasing so brokers do not divulge exact drilling locations to competitors.

The division chief said after leases are approved by the commissioners the oil and gas board would be in charge of issuing drilling permits and enforcing regulations.

Local Perkinson students honored

Three local residents are among 33 Gulf Coast Junior College students who have been named to the President's List and some 14 local residents are among 159 to the Dean's List for the fall semester at the Perkinson Campus.

Those making the President's List maintained 'A' averages with no grade less than 'B' on a minimum of 15 semester hours work.

Dean's List students had 'B' averages with no grades below 'C' while taking a minimum of 15 semester hours during the school term.

Academic President's List

students are:
-Lora Shiyou and Theresa Taconi, both of Pass Christian;

-Lori Ehlers of Long Beach.

Dean's list students are:

-Mark Bowen, Dawriyn Davion, Malcom Dedeaux,

Laura Demetz, Sally James, Janet Ladner and Concheta Ladner of Pass Christian;

-Cheryl Castiglia, Jeanine Hem, Karen Johnson, Shane Moody, Robert Overby and Marlin Seal of Long Beach.

-Mary Know of Waveland.

Area residents among Jeff Davis favorites

Two area residents were among several Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College favorites selected by students recently.

Sophomores Johnny Myers and Rhonda Parkinson have been named Mr. and Miss Jefferson Davis Campus.

They were selected during recent campus-wide balloting for Who's Who favorites.

Myers, a computer science major from Gulfport, is executive president of the tri-campus student council and president of the Jefferson Davis student council.

He is a member of Phi Theta

Kappa and the son of Mrs. Camille Myers.

Miss Parkinson of Gulfport is majoring in business education. She is sophomore class vice president and a member of Phi Beta Lambda. During her freshman year she was selected class beauty and was a member of the campus homecoming court for two years.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parkinson.

Other categories and winners are:

-Best dressed, Tina Jennings and Ricky Mathews, both of Gulfport;

-Most likely to succeed, Nancy Rester of Gulfport and Roger Ervin of Pass Christian;

-Sophomore favorites, Carol McCleskey and Todd Kirby, both of Gulfport.

-Freshman favorites, Misti Threadgill and Terry Towler, both of Biloxi;

-Campus favorite, Lori Daniels of Gulfport;

-Sophomore beauties, Laura Cuevas of Long Beach, and Caren Spain of Gulfport;

-Freshman beauties, Lisa McCordle of Gulfport, and Karen Gill of Biloxi;

-Jefferson Davis Campus beauty, Beth Haupt of Gulfport.

Vocational Education Week underway in state

Governor William Winter has proclaimed this week Vocational Education Week in Mississippi.

Vocational Education: Know How for the Eighties is theme for the 13th annual Vocational Education Week sponsored by the Vocational and Technical Division of the State Department of Education.

Education.

"Vocational education provides the 'know how' and trains people to either get a job or prepare for a better one. Last year over 168,000 Mississippians were enrolled in some type of vocational education course," a State Department of Education spokesman said.

"These courses provide Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations," an Air Force spokesman noted.

"In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force," the spokesman added.

LeGros will now receive specialized instruction in the voice processing field.

young people and adults with knowledge and skills; upgrade the skills of an employee whose job has become more complex; and retrain workers who have lost their jobs due to technological changes or physical impairment," the spokesman explained.

"With each passing year, vocational education in Mississippi reaches more students with more programs from more centers. Vocational education strives to provide up-to-date training for every interested individual in the skill of his or her choice," the spokesman added.

Elwyn Wheat, state vocational director said, "Vocational education must continue to meet the ever-changing employment opportunities and challenges of the 1980's in order to help maintain a healthy Mississippi economy."

AIRMAN DONNA LeGROS

Airman Donna L. LeGros, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy L. LeGros of 901 Shipp St. in Waveland, has been assigned to Presidio of Monterrey, Calif., after completing Air Force basic training.

SBA disaster loan deadline is Friday

Sam M. Baker, district director of U.S. Small Business Administration in Mississippi, reports SBA assistance to all businesses that suffered economic injury, including shrimpers, due to tornadoes, torrential rains and lightning which occurred on May 16 through 19, 1980, will end on Friday, March 13, 1981.

The announcement is the final reminder to those interested in making application.

Those counties affected by the disaster declaration were Hancock, Harrison, Marion and adjacent counties within the state of Mississippi.

Baker stated that loan applications must be received by close of business Friday, March 13, at SBA's disaster loan office located at Gulf National Life Insurance Building, 111 Fred Haise Blvd., Biloxi, MS 39530.

Applications may be filed during office hours from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For further information, contact the disaster office in Biloxi at 435-3876.

The proposal also recommends 'special attention' be given to providing appropriate hand rails, ramps, etc., to accommodate all students including the physically handicapped.

Construction of a fine arts building at Bay Senior High to include appropriate facilities for Band and Chorus, and painting of the exterior portion of the building 'where needed' is also included in the proposal.

Recommendations for renovation of permanent facilities at the North Bay elementary school include: painting where needed, air conditioning and repair or replacement of flooring, windows and roof.

Renovations for Bay Junior High School include repair or replacement of windows, electrical wiring, lighting, flooring, restrooms, plaster walls, the existing covered walk to the old cafeteria, gym floor and gym bleachers.

Further renovations at the junior high include construction of a covered walk from the old cafeteria to the new cafeteria and construction of a covered walk from the home economics building to the gym.

Air conditioning the facility, paving parking and student traffic areas, and landscaping to provide adequate drainage is also included in the proposal.

A final proposal recommends paving additional parking facilities at the present Waveland Elementary School.

In further business, the board approved $2,000 to the Bay High School Band for a trip to the 13th annual Six Flags Over Georgia Open Band Festival in Atlanta, April 24-25.

Glen Page, band director, estimated the price of the trip at $11,000.

He stated the largest part of the bill will be paid by the students, adding, "We hope not to burden the community with fund raising projects."

Page said the 53 band members will travel by Greyhound bus and stay in hotels or motels during the four day trip.

"The trip will be well chaperoned," he said.

The board voted 2-1 in favor of accepting and financing the trip.

Maurice Singleton voted no with Betty Diboll and Walter Turcotte in favor.

Also during the regularly scheduled meeting in the superintendent's office at Bay Senior High, the board tabled a request by Roger James, principal of North Bay Elementary School, for $4,000 to buy fans for the school.

James stated the PTO had $7,000 in available funds and informed the board that the desired 50 fans cost $9,167 plus a $2,000 installation cost.

James' request for fans preceded McCullough's building program recommendation which includes air conditioning at the school.

The board requested James give the brand name for the fans and also the mechanical design at their next meeting.

In further business, the board: —Approved the current administrative staff for the 1980-82 school years; —Approved a recommendation by Dr. Brenda Scaffidi, special education coordinator, for graduation requirements for Special Education Students;

—Approved an $11,847 first and final payment to Dillmann Roofing and Sheet Metal Contractors of Bay St. Louis for roof work on the Bay Senior High cafeteria and a $177 architect fee to Fred Wagner for his work on that project; —Approved the sale of bus number seven to L.D. Rowell for $257 and bus number eight to Leroy L. Lee Sr. for $625; —Approved the sale of a trailer at North Bay Elementary to Bay Waveland Headstart Center for $550; —Approved Kathy Elm as full time faculty science teacher at Bay Junior High for the 1980-81 school year.

—Approved a $769 purchase of a 16 millimeter Elki movie projector for Bay Junior High School from Mississippi School Supply.

—Authorized a sick leave extension for three school teachers.

Tiny Party Puffs—bite-sized cream puffs—are easy to prepare, and an elegant addition to the hors d'oeuvre tray, also an easy and elegant beginning—or ending—to a festive meal, depending on the filling you choose.

Make the filling meat or seafood or cheese or such—and you have your appetizers, make it sweet custard or ice cream or what have you, and there's your finale to a meal.

In either case, a tasty addition to tea party, cocktail party or other gathering.

And since it's St. Valentine time, let's make those tiny shells and fill them with traditional Valentine pinky-rose clouds of whipped cream and strawberries. For the

PETITE PARTY PUFFS

1 cup water
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sifted all purpose flour
Dash of salt
4 eggs

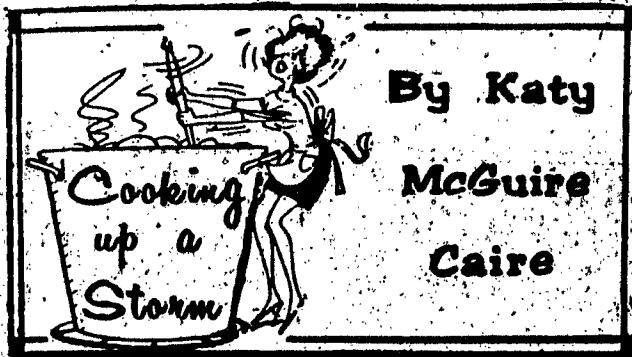

Bring the water to a boil, then add the butter or margarine, stirring till it melts.

Add the flour and salt all at once, stirring and stirring again until the mixture is quite smooth and makes a soft ball.

Let it cool just a bit. Start adding the eggs, one at a time, making sure that you beat the mixture well after each addition, and continue beating until the mixture is very shiny.

Drop the batter by teaspoonsful onto a lightly greased baking sheet—you should end up with 36 small blobs, more or less, according to how you drop the mixture on the sheet.

Bake at 375 degrees for 40 or 50 minutes, till they look ready. Cool, slit, then fill with the mixture to your taste.

For dessert, I like to pass a tray of these puffs, filled with whipped cream and strawberries.

Mix sweetened whipped cream—you can even use whipped topping from the supermarket—with fresh cut strawberries—or frozen berries or even strawberry jam if you're in a budget pinch—as who isn't these days?

I like to stick a bit of strawberry atop, as an added touch.

If you're making these puffs for appetizers or such, just substitute shrimp, chicken or tuna salad for the sweet stuff, or perhaps a sharp cheese-mayonnaise mixture.

And, of course, there's no culinary law that says you can't make fewer but larger puffs from your puff mixture, just drop bigger blobs on the baking sheet and increase the cooking time. Enjoy!

Energy assistance available locally

Governor William Winter reports a Low Income Energy Assistance Program, in the amount of $12,917,719 to provide financial assistance to an estimated 130,000 low-income Mississippi households for the winter months.

"The program, designed to help meet rising energy costs, will be administered by the Governor's Office of Federal-State Program and the Department of Human Development-Division of Human Resources, through the state's 20 community action agencies and other community based organizations," Doyle Moffett of the Gulf Coast Community Action Agency said recently.

"These agencies are taking applications and all eligible recipients must be certified through an application process to obtain program benefits," he noted.

"When applying, applicants must bring proof of household income, such as check stubs, pay slips, or written statement from employers regarding wages," Moffett explained.

"Eligible groups are low-income households who are affected by energy cost increases. Operators of public or subsidized housing may be eligible on behalf of their tenants. Benefits to recipients will vary from $50 to $200 depending on income, region of the state, type of heating used, and category of eligibility," Moffett reported. Application center for Hancock County is Gulf Coast Community Action Agency, 300 3rd St. in Bay St. Louis.

Application Centers for Harrison County are Neighborhood Service Center, 901 Pass Road in Gulfport; North Gulfport Civic Center, John Quincy Adams Street in Gulfport; and Biloxi Development Commission, 214 Lameuse St. at the City Hall Annex in Biloxi.

Application centers will be open Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Harrison County.

Biloxi Development Commission hours for Biloxi are Monday through Wednesday 8 a.m. to 12 noon.

Hancock County hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

BIG BOSS MAN—About three dozen Hancock County racing fans crowd around Boss Injun after his 10th straight win at Oak Downs. Wearing similar checkered shirts are co-owners and trainers Richard Graham (at front of Boss Injun) and Andy Ladner (with cap at rear of horse). Jockey Ray Robbins is in the irons.

SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1981-1B

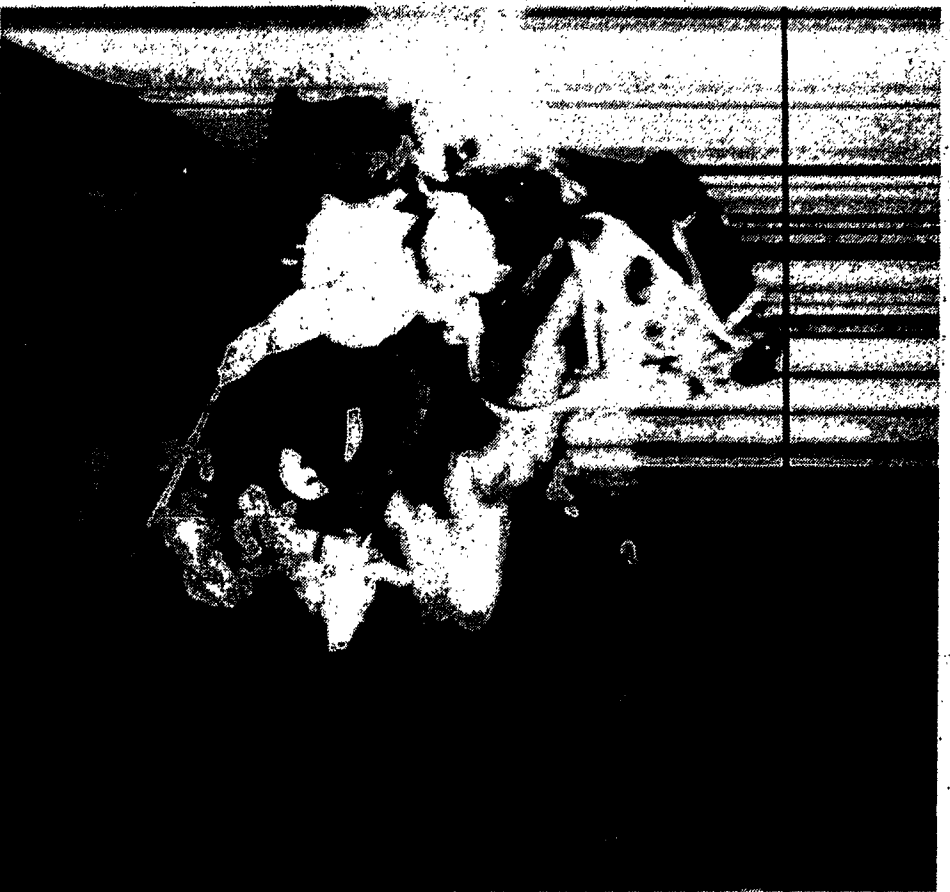

PACKING A KO PUNCH—Kyle Haas, 15, of Kiln, making his first appearance with the Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club Saturday night, sends Robert Baker, 15, of the Biloxi Boxing Club to the canvas early in the first round of their encounter at the DAV Hall in Bay St. Louis. Haas scored a TKO victory in his first fight when the referee stopped the contest before the end of the first round. The ring physician was summoned to check the dazed Baker after Haas flattened his opponent with a right hook. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

AGONY OF DEFEAT—Chris Reas, 13, right, of the Hancock Boxing Club grimaces as a judges' decision is announced Saturday declaring his opponent, John Poolson, 13, of Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club the winner in an AAU-sanctioned match at DAV Hall in Bay St. Louis. Poolson took a close decision in a hard-fought, local rivalry which had the fans screaming for more. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

CLOSE DECISION—An older and stronger Brian Schonewitz, 11, left, of Saucier Saturday took a close decision in his match against Fredman Lago, 10, of the Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club in the 80-pound class. Other B-K-W fighters in action at the DAV Hall were Todd Rooks, 15, overwhelmed John James, 15, of Saucier in the 119-pound class. Rooks was the winner after the referee stopped the contest at the end of the first round. Jimmy McCune, 10, lost a decision to Robert James, 10, of Saucier, and Chuck Karl, 10, was decisively by Clint Webster, 10, of Biloxi. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

BY A NOSE—Boss Injun noses out Linda Three Bars, 16.07 seconds to 16.08 seconds, in big race Sunday at Oak Downs for 10th straight win. Aboard the winner is Ray Robbins while JoAnn Boatwright rides a close second.

RING PHYSICIAN—AAU official August Scaffidi of Bay St. Louis, right, presents award of appreciation on behalf of the Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club to Dr. M.J. Wolfe Sr. in recognition of many years of service to the youth of this community. The award was made at B-K-W matches Saturday in the DAV Hall, Bay St. Louis where Dr. Wolfe served as ring physician. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Boss Injun on a streak

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La.—Hancock County was well-represented Sunday in the winner's circle at Oak Downs, and in more ways than one.

When Boss Injun, owned and trained by Richard Graham and Andy Ladner who reside near the Dedaux community, nosed out Linda Three Bars in a 300-yard race, it marked the 10th straight victory for the Hancock County horse.

But a large Hancock following had to sweat out a brief wait for a photo-finish examination before learning that Boss Injun had actually won. It was that close.

In distance, it was about two inches, and in time, it was .01 of a second. Boss Injun was clocked in 16.07 seconds to Linda Three Bars' 16.08.

It was the second time in three weeks that Boss Injun made the same mare his victim, and both matches were decided by only a few inches.

Riding Boss Injun to the victory was Ray Robbins of Grand Bay, Ala., who recorded six wins on Sunday's 15-race card.

Boss Injun broke out of the starting gates on top by a length, but Linda Three Bars made a furious charge down the stretch, only to lose at the wire.

When the winner was announced, several dozen jubilant Hancock County horse racing fans crammed into the winners circle for a photograph.

But that was not the only time Hancock was represented in the winner's circle. Five other Hancock County horses captured wins.

In another race attracting interest, Oscar Meyer, owned by Oswald Moran and trained by his son Clyde Moran, both of the Kiln Community, easily put away Some Kind of Bad, a recent Oak Downs futurity winner.

Two horses owned by Frank Comfort, also of Kiln, took victories as Lovely won the three-eighths-mile first over Miss Randolph and Teddy's Echo captured the three-eighths-mile 11th against Raguas.

Sandy's Hannah, owned by James Sterling and handled by Graham and Ladner, was declared winner of the three-eighths-mile fourth race when Bull Dragon was disqualified for fouling.

Rocky Hill Bailey, an outstanding filly owned by James and Judy Watson of Waveland, returned to action after a brief layoff and had no trouble in taking the 220-yard 14th race against Joe Boatwright's Stormy.

Jockey Marty Comfort of Hancock notched three winners Sunday.

Sunday's Results

OLD FISHING ROD—Cecil Jones, Pass Christian resident, recently purchased this six-foot fishing rod for $1.50 at a garage sale. After some clean-up Jones found a patent date of 1966. Ardent fisherman Alden Mauffray, in checking over the rod said the patent date did not really mean much, but estimated the rod was manufactured before 1920. The rod is made with split bamboo with a brass tip and brass and other metals for holding reel. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Kiln native drafts basketball work

J. LARRY LADNER

Special To The Echo
By DEE ANN KACHLER
HATTIESBURG—Coach J. Larry Ladner, basketball specialist in the Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching at the University of Southern Mississippi, will soon be releasing a publication for basketball coaches.

Request for the USM coach to write for several physical education publications across the country stemmed from a March, 1980 topic he presented in Nashville, Tenn. to 5,000 people at the Southern District American Alliance for Health, Physical Education and Recreation Convention entitled "Professional Preparation and Certification of Coaches."

"Athletic Director's Report" and "The Physical Education Newsletter," both nationally circulated publications, have requested copies of the speech, in addition to a publishing company seeking a complete book on basketball.

As a basketball coach and educator since 1960, Ladner is aware of the educational values that athletics impart on youth, and since coaching is an educational process, he feels certain preparation and certification requirements should be adhered to.

Five areas where Ladner feels minimum certification standards in coaching should be met include preparation in the medical aspects, in principles and problems, in theory and techniques, in kinesiological and physiological foundations.

"Today's coaches are experiencing a multitude of problems," Ladner said. He cited "administrative, behavioral, coaching and social problems as well as the changing philosophies, attitudes, theories, and strategies of basketball" as factors affecting today's coaches.

Coach Ladner, an assistant professor of athletic administration and coaching, has been with the USM department since its conception in 1971.

In 10 years he has been an instrumental force in creating the high standards of USM's coaching program, acclaimed to be among the most outstanding in the nation.

Now residing in Hattiesburg, Ladner is a native of Kiln, and was head basketball coach at Poyune Memorial High School after receiving his BS degree from Louisiana College, in 1960. At Poyune his team record was 253 wins and 82 losses.

His students have gone on to emulate his own successful playing and coaching record which included being a top player in the nation and a member of various all-tournament teams.

The coach has professed his winning basketball strategy to teams in this county and abroad and sponsored the J. Larry Ladner Basketball Clinic and the co-sponsored Pearl River Junior College Basketball Camp for a number of years.

In addition to serving on the U.S. Olympic Committee, he has served on clinic staffs for Mississippi State as well as a number of Louisiana universities.

Wildcats sign Forrest AHS star lineman

David Lomas, a 210 pound offensive and defensive tackle for the Forrest County Aggies, has signed a scholarship to play for the Pearl River College Wildcats.

Lomas is not only an All-Apache Conference player but is also a campus favorite as well as a special honor student at the Brooklyn school.

David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Miguel Lomas, received the American High School Athlete Award and was named his team's Most Valuable Defensive Player his junior and senior years.

He was also selected by his classmates as having the Most School Spirit and served as president of the FCAHS senior class. He is a member of the math, speech, science, debate, and Key clubs. He is also active in the F-Club, FCA and student council.

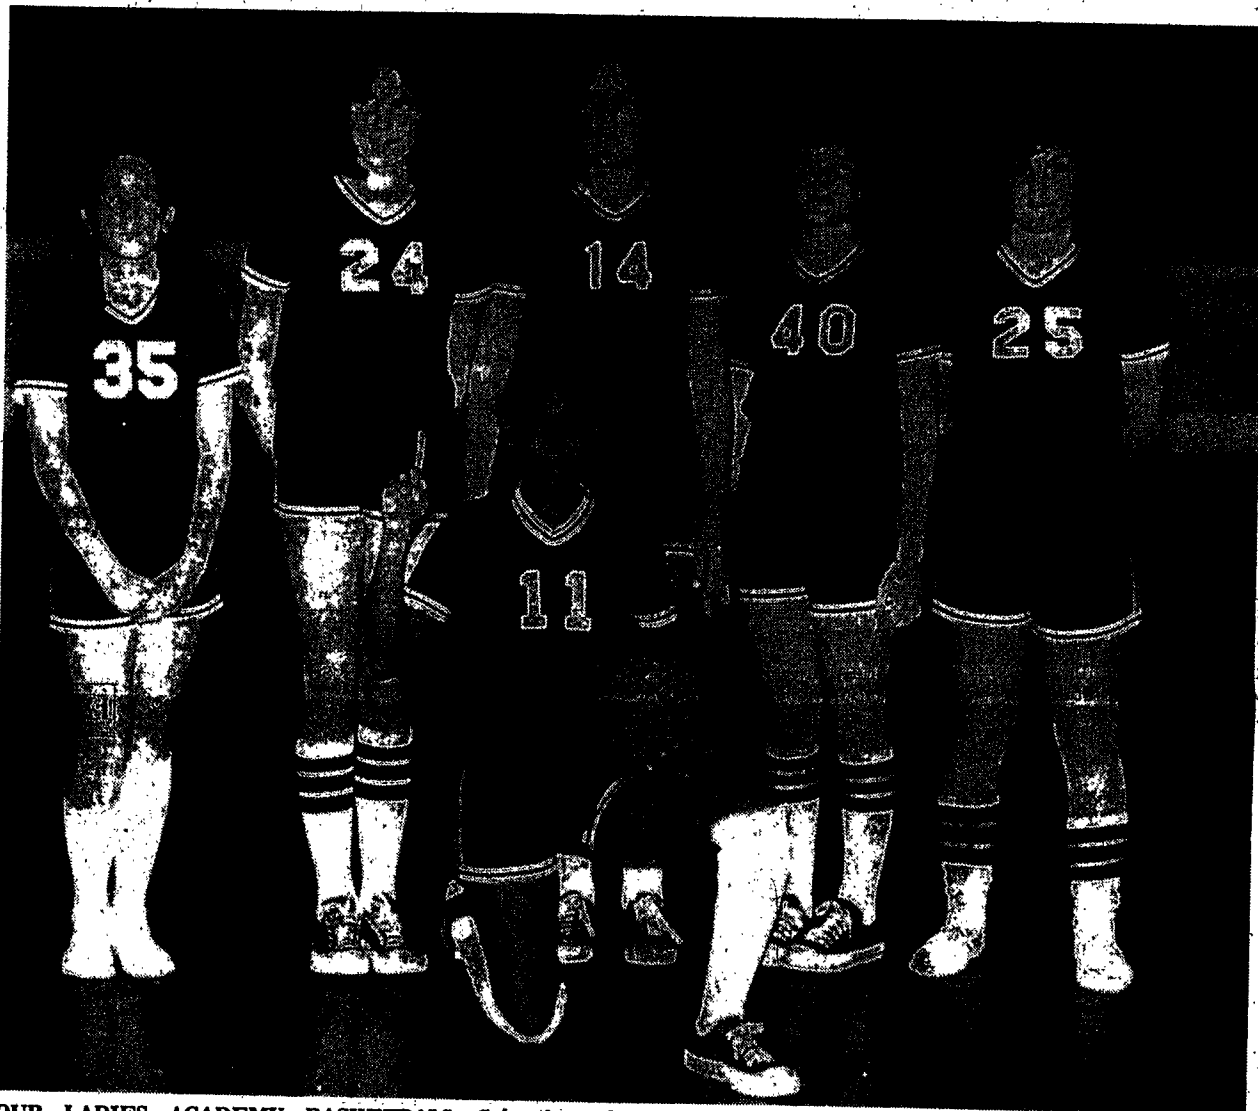

Lomas has a 3.8 grade point average and is listed among Who's Who Among American High School Students.

J.C. Arban, head coach of the Wildcats, said Lomas is a tremendous asset for the Wildcats. "He is the type of individual we can depend on," said Arban.

TOURNAMENT CHAMPS—The Bay Junior High Eighth grade girls' basketball team won first place in a Poyune Tournament January 31. On the way to the championship, they defeated Pearl River Central, 28-19; Poplarville 42-20; and C.B. Murphy in the finals, 31-20. The leading scorers for the team were Michelle Dorsey and Tracy Reed. The team ended their season with 13 wins and 3 losses. Members include from

OUR LADIES ACADEMY BASKETBALL—Seventh and eighth grade junior high girls at OLA claim a number one position in the county at the end of their basketball season. The girls, coached by Alice Boudin, won 13 and lost two during this season's play. Captain Jonique Farve holds the ball at center

Wildcat basketball aired on FM

Pearl River Junior College basketball games, right through state tournament action, will be broadcast over radio station WRPM-FM, a 100,000 watt facility in Poplarville.

The live broadcasts are produced by the Pearl River Public Relations Department with Larry L. Stanford handling the play by play and Miller Hammill furnishing expert commentary.

The PRC Basketball Network is one of only four junior college broadcasts in Mississippi and is the most powerful of any in the state.

"The broadcasts are just part of our having a first class basketball program here at PRC," said Billy Holmes, head coach of the Wildcats and the Lady Wildcats.

"We really appreciate the support we have received from the Pearl River Board of Trustees, Dr. Marvin R. White, president; and the many sponsors for the broadcasts."

"Ben Griffin, owner of the WRPM-AM&FM has also been just great working with us and providing us with this powerful medium," said

Stanford, who is director of PRC's public relations department.

The Wildcats' games are broadcast in entirety; however, Griffin is also permitting the broadcast of the last ten minutes of Lady Wildcat action. "This is definitely a different approach to basketball coverage," Stanford said, "and certainly demonstrates the support WRPM is giving us."

The men's game begins at 8:15 p.m. with the cut to the Lady Wildcats usually coming at 7:45 p.m.

Away games remaining for the Wildcats' and Lady Wildcats include Co-Lin, Feb. 10; home encounters include East Central, Feb. 5.

Tournament action will begin in mid-February.

NOW Checking-With-Interest

THE OBVIOUS CHECKING CHOICE.

Now, there's a new kind of checking account at Hancock Bank. One that can pay you 5 1/4% daily interest on your money.

With a $1,500 minimum balance, Hancock Bank's NOW Checking-With-Interest carries no service charge. Or if you keep $3,000 in Hancock Bank Regular, Golden or Silver Savings, your account carries no service charge no matter what your balance. If your balance should fall below the minimum, you'll be subject to a modest service charge. Of course, there's no charge for HandyBank transactions.

Maybe you'd like to stay with your Regular Checking plan. Although the law will not permit us to pay interest, you can still get checking with no service charge if you keep $300 on deposit.

But if NOW Checking-With-Interest is right for you, we'll sign you up on the spot. It's so easy!

Find out more about NOW Checking-With-Interest at your nearest Hancock Bank office.

Adjustment in some 111 academic programs on the eight university campuses dominated much of the activity at the State College Board's January meeting.

According to Dr. Tom Meredith, academic programs officer for the board, these adjustments preceded an in-depth analysis of all academic programs by the board staff.

"What the institutions have done is identify programs they feel are not productive and place them in three categories: discontinue, consolidate or suspend admissions for a period of time and these 111 programs are being dealt with in this manner," Meredith said.

In November the College Board instructed the staff to make the in-depth analysis of programs using criteria established by the Academy for Educational Development. At this time it was felt that a large number of programs, possibly half, would fall below the productivity criteria set by the AED.

Meredith said action on these 111 programs has given the institutions the opportunity to make their choice regarding certain programs prior to the analysis.

In athletic matters, the board approved a contract extension for Mississippi State head football coach Emory Bellard until January 15, 1985 with a salary increase to $52,800.

Bellard joined the Mississippi State staff in 1979 and has completed two seasons. He has a 12-11 record for the two years. The first year was 3-8. In the second season Bellard's team posted a 9-2 regular season record and a trip to the Sun Bowl.

State lost to Nebraska in the Sun Bowl 31-17.

Highlighting the 1981 season for Bellard was the 6-3 upset over Alabama.

Also at Mississippi State athletic director Carl Maddox will receive a salary increase to $53,350.

At the University of Mississippi Robert D. Cope has been named assistant football coach and instructor in physical education.

The head football coach at the University of Southern Mississippi, Bobby Collins, has received an extension on his contract through December 31, 1984 with a salary increase to $52,000.

Collins has completed his sixth season at the University of Southern Mississippi, posting a 39-28-1 record for that time. Collins' 1981 season was 8-3 retaining the mythical State Championship with wins over both Mississippi State and the University of Mississippi.

The 1981 Golden Eagles are champions of the Independence Bowl with a 16-14 win over McNeese State.

The appropriations committee of the 1981 Legislature will receive a capital improvements request from the College Board in the amount of $36.9 million. The priority list was prepared for the Board by Dober and Associates, a firm retained to evaluate physical facilities at the eight state universities.

According to Bill Jones, chairman of the Board's building committee, the report also highlighted another $4 million in needed renovation and repair items on the university campuses which must also be presented to the Legislature for funding consideration.

In other building matters the Board approved $4.1 million in new facilities on the various campuses, the largest being $2.1 million for Married Student-Graduate Student Housing at Mississippi State University. The Buildings Committee approved another $1.2 million in various repair projects to serve and maintain existing facilities on the university campuses.

The Board announced the formation of a Faculty Resource Data Bank to provide a linkage between the colleges and universities in Mississippi and the private sector, nonprofit organizations, local and state government.

Dr. Jim Meredith, assistant director of the board, said that essentially, if resources and technical assistance are needed and individuals or organizations do not know who to contact, the Faculty Resource Data Bank will provide a mechanism for

STATEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION

Coast Electric Power Association has filed with the Federal Government a Compliance Assurance in which it assures the Rural Electrification Administration that it will comply fully with all requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Agriculture issued thereunder, to the end that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination in the conduct of its program and the operation of its facilities. Under this Assurance, the organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants or the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and the Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250, or the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D. C. 20250, or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Such complaint must be filed not later than 180 days after the alleged discrimination, or by such later date to which the Secretary of Agriculture or the Rural Electrification Administration extends the time for filing. Identity of complainants will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations.

Bay St. Louis first Gulf Coast town to have phones

Over 100 years ago, a telephone exchange began operating in Vicksburg. It was the first in the state and the only recorded one for more than a year.

The exchange opened Jan. 10, 1881 and in its first year had 77 telephones. Franklin Kyle, local district manager for South Central Bell, said in Gulfport recently.

"For nearly 80 years, Vicksburg customers had to call the operator to place any type of call. Then, in 1960, dial service was introduced and customers could place local calls themselves," Kyle noted. "Some three years later, Vicksburg customers could dial long distance calls when 'Direct Distance Dialing' was introduced. And in 1967, they were offered 'Touch-Tone' dialing as an alternative to the rotary dial," Kyle said.

Today, Mississippians can reach around the world within seconds by dialing a few digits.

"But telephone service as we know it didn't just happen. The system we take for granted had to be built piece by piece, and thousands of people played a part in its growth," Kyle stated.

"Here on the Gulf Coast the first exchange placed in service was Bay St. Louis which began service in August of 1899 with 47 telephones followed by Pass Christian in October of 1899 with 30 telephones," the district manager reported.

"In 1900 an Ocean Springs Central Office was constructed in May with 46 telephones, Gulfport in June, 1900 with 43 telephones and a Biloxi exchange was purchased in May with 111 telephones. Pascagoula and Moss Point exchange construction followed in 1904 with 251 and 137 telephones respectively," Kyle said.

"In Mississippi today, Bell employees are continuing to build and improve the telephone system which serves 755,000 customers in 167 Mississippi exchanges. They're proud to be part of the tradition of service which began 100 years ago with 77 telephones in Vicksburg," Kyle noted.

Tampa electric coop names James to post

William James, 44, a Bay Saint Louis native, recently joined Seminole Electric Cooperative, a Tampa-based utility, as director of operations.

He is married to the former Beverly Banderet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Banderet of 217 8th Street in Waveland. The James' have four children: William, 24; Cheryl Elaine, 22; Carl Byron, 18 and Troy Lee, 16.

A Mississippi State University graduate, he brings more than 23 years experience to his position in the newly-created operations department at Seminole.

James' responsibility includes maintaining and monitoring the day-to-day operations of the bulk power electric system which serves more than 300,000 farms, households and commercial establishments in 47 Florida counties through an 11-member distribution cooperative system.

He previously served as vice general manager at Big Rivers Electric Corporation in Henderson, Kentucky. James also spent 18 years at Florida Power & Light Company in various operations, engineering and corporate positions.

James is a member of the National Society of Electrical Engineers, the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and the Kentucky Engineering Society.

He is a former faculty member at University of Miami, University of Evansville, University of Kentucky and Manatee Junior College.

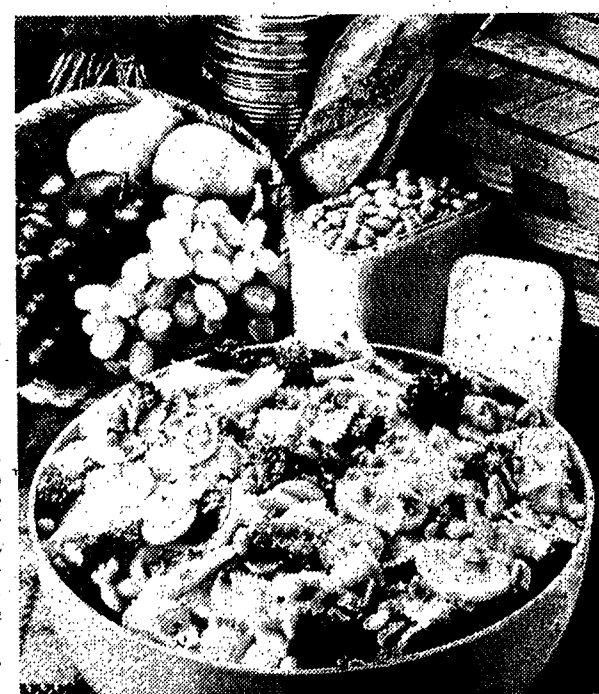

Menu Maker: Macaroni Peanut Salad

Today more people are cooking because they want to. And they are giving more thought to aesthetics, such as color, taste and texture in the dishes they prepare. The accompanying recipe for Macaroni Peanut Salad is a recipe for today's cooks. It's colorful, nutritious and satisfying. And the recipe is adaptable. If you'd like it fancier, use walnuts or cashews instead of peanuts. Also, you might increase the vegetables and reduce the macaroni.

Premium quality nuts are available in cello bags in supermarkets. The nuts are packaged by Planters in convenient amounts for use in cooking and baking as well as for snacks. And some varieties of Planters nuts are available unsalted as well as salted.

In recognition of the new packages, Planters is offering "The Nut Cookbook" which illustrates how nuts enhance a wide variety of dishes. Since most consumers associate nuts with desserts and sweets, the cookbook places emphasis on vegetable, entree and bread recipes, pointing out that nuts may be used to boost texture and flavor in dishes ranging from soup to desserts. For a free copy of "The Nut Cookbook" write: Planters, Box 632, Madison Square Station, N.Y., N.Y. 10010.

What should be served with Macaroni Peanut Salad to complete the meal? Pickles, olives or relishes make nice accompaniments. And if it's a cool day, start the meal with a cream soup. Crunchy corn sticks go well with salads. For dessert, Apple Crisp served with a hard sauce, or melon balls in a ginger syrup, or fresh pears with cheese.

MACARONI PEANUT SALAD

Makes 8 to 10 Servings

3 cups broccoli flowerettes
3 cups sliced unpeeled yellow squash
Cold water
1/2 cup Planters Oil
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
1 cup chopped tomato
1/2 cup minced green onion
1 teaspoon crushed garlic
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon basil leaves
1 teaspoon oregano leaves
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

1/2 pound bowtie macaroni, cooked, drained and cooled
1 cup chopped Planters Salted Peanuts
1 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
Steam broccoli and squash for 5 minutes. Rinse with cold water to cool. Drain well. Heat Planters Oil in large skillet over medium heat. Add celery, tomato, green onion and garlic. Sauté 5 minutes stirring occasionally, until celery is tender crisp. Stir in salt, basil, oregano and pepper. In a large bowl combine steamed vegetables, cooked macaroni, salted vegetables, Planters Salted Peanuts, and Parmesan cheese. Toss well. Chill before serving.

Language of horse and wagon days also obsolete

By S. Grady Thigpen

Words and Terms of 1900
My recent story about words and terms used in 1900, but now mostly out of use, attracted much attention.

A man living at Pace, Mississippi, wrote, "I get a kick out of your writings, especially the one about many sayings now to youngsters."

This gentleman then went on to list a number of old time terms and words in the recent article. What is a logger-head? How many, even if any, of the younger people know what this word, in common use 75 years ago, referred to?

I do not know the dictionary definition of logger-head, but what we knew as one on the old farm was a device for attaching a trace chain to a horse.

It was carried in stock in all country stores when I was a boy. Where almost no one knows what it is now, just about everyone knew in 1910. Lap link is another word everyone knew the meaning of in the old days. It is an object like a link in a chain except that it is slightly open on one side so as to connect two chain links together. It was also used to connect a single tree to a plow or double tree.

A buckhead was used on the pears of turning plows, somewhat like a clevis except it had four holes spaced perpendicularly so that the single tree or double tree could be raised or lowered to control the depth a plow would go into the ground.

A back band, still in limited use, was a band about three feet long by four or five inches wide placed over the back of a horse with hooks on each end to hold the trace chains up so that they would not flop around under the horse's feet.

A belly band of the same description was used under the horse to hold down buggy or wagon shafts.

Brithing was another term well known when I grew up. It fit over a horse's hips with a lead along its back to the top of the harness.

From the brithing, hold back straps were connected with the shafts to enable the horse to hold the vehicle back in going down hills or grades. A crupper was part of the brithing and fit around the horse's tail. It helped to hold the brithing in place.

A blind bridle, seen almost everywhere that horses were used in the long ago, was used on horses and mules that were skittish or excitable.

With a blind bridle on, an animal could see only straight ahead and was thus less apt to see anything that would frighten it.

The term, a four-up team, would be seldom, if ever, used today. But in the old days a four-up team was made up of four horses to pull heavier equipment, larger plows, middle busters, etc. Tractors are now used almost altogether for this type work.

Sixty years ago every farmer, even the ones with very small acreages, had a wagon. The small farmers often had one-horse wagons, the larger farmers, heavier, two-horse wagons, to carry bigger loads.

Wagons in the old days were in universal use, just as pick-up trucks are today. Back 100 years ago there were many farm wagons pulled by oxen. When I first started in business in 1919, we bought wagons by the car load. I remember when many wagons came in to Picayune before there were motor trucks like we have now.

There are few people now living to whom the term king pin would have any meaning, but that was a term as well understood in the days gone by as are the terms rubber tires and spark plugs today.

The king pin on a wagon was a "4" or "3/4" bolt about 10 or 12 inches long. It attached the front bolster to the front end of the coupling pole and to the front axle of the wagon.

The coupling pole was the connecting link between the front section of the wagon and the rear section.

The bolster on the rear axle was stationary. The front bolster was called the rocking bolster as it was fastened to the wagon axle at its mid point. The body of the wagon was anchored to the wagon by being placed on two bolsters and held there between uprights at each end of each bolster.

The tongue or shaft of a one-horse wagon was attached to the front axle and could turn either to right or to left as the axle on the front could move freely to either side while the bolster stayed put.

Other terms used in connection with wagons were: spokes, hubs, tires, (the flat iron that circled the wheel). A froe was the name of a commonly used tool 75 years ago. It was used to split roofing boards or shingles.

A side saddle was generally used by women in riding horses in the old days, but are never seen now. I used to wonder how a woman could stay on a horse sitting on a side saddle.

Melvina exhibiting through February at Hancock Library

The art of Melvina Gilson is currently being featured in the Crawford Room of the City-County Library through the month of February.

A resident of Pearlman, Melvina Gilson has been doing portraits, paintings, wood-carving, calligraphy, murals and stained glass work professionally for more than 22 years.

She is a graduate of St. Mary of the Pines Academy in Chatawa, Miss., attended Notre Dame Junior College and St. Louis University in Missouri, and also Cooper Union in New York City on a fine arts scholarship.

Since moving to the New Orleans area in 1958 she has owned and operated three art galleries in the French Quarter. The most recent of these was Genesis, which was located in the Royal Sonesta Hotel and which employed more than 30 artists from all over the United States, Europe and the Far East.

Gilson has been commissioned by various school boards and other agencies to paint oil portraits of their founders, presidents, and others.

Her major works included life-size portraits of Andrew Jackson, and General Beauregard for schools of that name in St. Bernard, La.; the Anniversary Double Portrait celebrating the founding of the Mormon Church in Utah; a presentation oil portrait executed for the Taylor Diving Company of New Orleans; and also several life-sized portrait paintings which are now included in the Rothschild Collection.

Numbered among the famous personalities who have commissioned portraits from Melvina are Charo, Arnold and Jean Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. McLean Stevenson, the children of Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman, Bobby Darin and son, a group portrait of 13 members of the Georgia State Legislature and others.

In recognition of her portrait work of various city officials, Melvina was presented with the keys to the city in 1972 and made an honorary citizen of New Orleans by then-Mayor Moon Landrieu and the City Council.

In recent years she had incorporated woodcarving and stained glass work with kiln-fired enamels and paintings into one-of-a-kind free-standing screens, Ikons, lighting lamps and sculptures.

These designer pieces are sold both to private persons and galleries and are also sought after by such establishments as Horwitz-Mindz of Royal Street in New Orleans.

Reading Association annual meeting set in New Orleans

More than 12,000 educators are expected to attend the International Reading Association's 26 Annual Convention, scheduled for April 27-May 1 in New Orleans.

Theme for this year's convention is "Progress and Promise."

Highlights of the five days of educational programming include two general sessions featuring prominent speakers. Dr. Loretta Luan, known to millions as Susan on "Sesame Street," will speak about "Influences of TV on Education" at the first general session on Tuesday.

The featured speaker for the second general session will be historian and Pulitzer Prize-winning author Arthur Schlesinger Jr. His topic will be "America: The Way Ahead."

Eight additional mini general sessions are scheduled for Wednesday, April 29 and Thursday, April 30. The Wednesday sessions will deal with "Reading for Pleasure: Implications for the '80s," and Thursday's sessions will cover "Reading Instruction: Implications for the '80s." Speakers for these Series '81 meetings include prominent authors and educators.

Other convention highlights will include the installation of IRA officers and board members, the annual awards banquet, a media awards luncheon, the president's luncheon for council and affiliate leaders, and the annual book and author luncheon.

This luncheon will feature Katherine Paterson, the award-winning author of children's books such as Bridge to Terabithia and The Great Gilly Hopkins.

A special session for parents is scheduled for Monday evening, April 27 at 7:30 in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton Hotel. Author and lecturer Patricia Koppman will be the featured speaker for this session, which is free and open to all.

The five day convention program offers conferees a choice of nearly 300 different sessions, workshops, research reports, meetings and symposia, with an estimated 1,500 individuals participating as presenters.

These events give conferees a chance to discuss the latest innovations and successful teaching techniques in the field of reading. In addition, approximately 550 exhibit booths in The Rivergate will display the latest in educational programs and materials.

The convention officially opens with the first general session on Tuesday afternoon, April 28, and concludes with the book and author luncheon on Friday afternoon, May 1. The convention is preceded by two days of special pre-convention activities on Monday, April 27 and Tuesday, April 28. Special registration is required for the 24 pre-convention institutes, and these programs are limited to a certain number of participants. On-site registration for convention activities will be located in The Rivergate. Meetings and social functions will be held in The Rivergate, the New Orleans Hilton and the Marriott.

The 65,000-member International Reading Association is a nonprofit organization devoted to the improvement of reading instruction and promotion of the reading habit among people worldwide.

Its interest in worldwide literacy is typified by its sponsorship of the International Reading Association Literacy Award, presented annually by Unesco for outstanding work in the field of literacy.

The Association's members include classroom teachers, reading specialists, college professors, administrators, psychologists, researchers and librarians.

READY FOR LAUNCH—Space Shuttle orbiter Columbia, mated with its external tank and solid rocket boosters, leaves the Vehicle Assembly Building at Kennedy Space Center, Fla. for a 3.4-mile trip to its launch pad. The shuttle is being readied for launch which is scheduled for late March. Martin Marietta Aerospace manufactures the large external tank at its Michoud Division in New Orleans.

PIER WORK UNDERWAY—American Legion Post 139 Pier at the end of Washington Street in Bay St. Louis will be closed daily from 6 p.m. to 7 a.m. due to pier renovation and construction work underway at the end of the riprap jetty. Post Commander Henry Prevou said a cable will be stretched across the pier entrance when closed, the facility will be patrolled by police and trespassers will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Discussing the pier project are, from left, Patrolman Harris Boudreaux, of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, Prevou, Wade Lane of Lane and Son Construction Co. of Bay St. Louis and Legion Pier Chairman Frank Taconi. Teenagers can make important decisions

Decisions teenagers make while still in high school will affect them for the rest of their lives, so who says they are "too young to know?" The strongest decisions ever made were carried out by teenagers such as Cleopatra, Joan of Arc, and Romeo and Juliet, according to a marriage and family life specialist speaking recently to hundreds of Future Homemakers of America Club members at the University of Southern Mississippi. "We know you make decisions for the rest of your life," said Dr. Walter Yarrow, USM professor of marriage and family life, speaking on "The Family of the 80's." Although there will be many important judgments to be made by young families starting out, the task of making "right" decisions is 50 percent easier now that women are recognized as intelligent rational counterparts. "Men now know of women's abilities and new changes are coming about because of it," said Dr. Yarrow.

New Orleans company lands $88 million Space Shuttle contract

Martin Marietta Aerospace in New Orleans has been awarded two contract additions totaling nearly $88 million for work on the Space Shuttle external propellant tanks. "The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala. has amended one contract to add and modify tooling Martin Marietta needs to increase its production rate to 24 external tanks a year," a company spokesman said recently. "The amendment adds $68.5 million to the existing external tank design and development contract. The new and modified tooling will be in place at the New Orleans production facility by Dec. 1982," the spokesman noted. "NASA's Kennedy Space Center in Florida has also awarded Martin Marietta a $21,489,303 extension on a contract for processing the external tanks," the spokesman reported. "The contract calls for Martin Marietta to continue processing the external tank element of the Space Shuttle vehicle from its arrival at Kennedy through the prelaunch and launch activities," the spokesman explained. "The giant external tanks are built at NASA's Michoud facility by Martin Marietta under contract with the Marshall Space Flight Center. They are shipped to Kennedy by barge," the spokesman further explained. "The cost plus award fee contract extends through March 31, 1982," the spokesman added. "The external tank is the only element of the Space Shuttle which is not reusable. The tank is 154 feet (47 meters) long and 27.5 feet (8.38 meters) in diameter. At ignition it contains 1.3 million pounds of oxidizer and 224,000 pounds of liquid hydrogen fuel and supplies them under pressure to the airplane-like orbiter's three powerful main engines during liftoff and ascent. When the main engines shut down about 8.5 minutes after launch, the external tank is jettisoned, enters the Earth's atmosphere, breaks up and impacts in a remote ocean area. The Kennedy Space Center is the primary launch and recovery site for the reusable Space Shuttle, scheduled to be launched on its first Earth-orbital mission in March.

In our frozen food department, your favorite fruits and vegetables are always in season. You can enjoy fruits and vegetables picked at the peak of flavor... fish and seafood with ocean fresh taste... all year long!

We especially recommend our own fine Top Frost label in frozen foods. The Top Frost label means outstanding value... quality that's equal to or better than that of comparable nationally advertised brands.

So, come on in to our frozen food department this week and stock up on great "freezer" buys!

Savings, Quality, Convenience... yours from Top Frost and Jitney!
